Forum deletion scheduled for Sept 17, 2006!

That got your attention, eh?

I'm doing away with the pro forum, since it quickly grew out of Markee's original "here's crazy stuff you can do with whacked out profiles" into some services and other marketplace stuff. It's creating way too much trouble for us, so it'll be gone.

Anything you want out of there, better get it soon. It'll be around for awhile as read-only, then gone forever in a week or so.

Yes its just the Professional Glider forum section.

And this is excellent news in my opinion.

Will we no longer be able to advertise services?

Think maybe that professional gliding is what got blizz's attention to begin with? Private was probably seen as pretty low profile, Profession gliding may have been what got their panties in a twist?
